PDRY Conflict

'Ali Nasir Muhammad's opponents claimed victory in broadcasts by a Lahij-based radio. Statements on behalf of the YSP Political Bureau accused 'Ali Nasir Muhammad of staging an unsuccessful attempt to liquidate other YSP leaders and warned that further "illegal acts" by 'Ali Nasir's supporters are "absolutely prohibited." YSP sources cited by the radio claimed that "most" YSP Political Bureau members survived the "treacherous" attempt by the private guard of the PDRY chairman, who fled the capital soon after the failure of his "perfidious coup attempt." Claiming that Aden has returned to "normal" life, the radio urged citizens to return to work and it broadcast numerous messages of support for the YSP Political Bureau from military and civilian sources. On foreign policy, a YSP statement welcomed the Soviet role in containing the situation and also expressed the hope that relations with the YAR will be consolidated and developed. while the radio described itself as "Aden, Voice of the PDRY," a south Yemeni source cited by KUNA claimed that the radio is broadcasting from Lahij.

Meanwhile, Addis Ababa radio announced that 'Ali Nasir Muhammad returned "home" 19 January after a short stopover in Addis Ababa to discuss the crisis with Ethiopian leader Mengistu Haile Mariam. Although an "official" source cited by Sanaa radio stated that 'Ali Nasir has returned to Aden, the UAE paper AL-KHALIJ said Yemeni sources in Sanaa believe he is in the YAR city of Ta'izz.

In another development, the PDRY premier and foreign minister sent a message to YAR President 'Ali 'Abdallah Salih urging him to prevent PLO forces from intervening in the conflict. The appeal, reported by TASS, expressed appreciation for the YAR leader's call for a cease-fire but warned that any outside interference will only complicate the situation. The message from Moscow followed Salih's cease-fire appeal, broadcast by Sanaa radio 18 January, in which he announced that Palestinian fighters carrying white flags would supervise a cease-fire starting the following day. PLO Executive Committee Chairman Yasir 'Arafat, who discussed the PDRY crisis in talks with Salih over the weekend, confirmed that PLO forces have been dispatched to the PDRY in remarks reported by Sanaa Voice of Palestine radio, adding that the fighting has stopped.

Lebanon

President Amin al-Jumayyil has stressed that the recent events in the Christian sector were not designed to end the "Arab option" or harm the relationship with Syria, Beirut radio reported 20 January. The president and the Phalangist Party are preparing for a broad Christian conference in Bkirki, seat of the Maronite patriarchate, the radio added. A Lebanese Forces Executive Committee statement broadcast by Voice of Lebanon radio 17 January likewise emphasized the need to continue collaboration with Syria and called for the establishment of an "expanded Christian grouping" in Bkirki to decide "weighty national matters." A 19 January Lebanese Forces military meeting was chaired by Chief of Staff Samir Ja'ja', who emphasized that the Lebanese Forces must be the only military force in the Christian sector, according to the radio. At a subsequent meeting with Phalangist Party leaders, Ja'ja' stressed the need to clear the atmosphere between the party and the Lebanese Forces, the radio noted.

On the Muslim side, militia leaders Nabih Birri and Walid Junblatt sharply criticized President al-Jumayyil in remarks broadcast by Beirut radio and the clandestine Voice of the Mountain radio. In remarks broadcast by Beirut radio after his return from talks with the Syrian president, Prime Minister Rashid Karami deplored the "coup" on the Christian side and noted that the "partisan" character of the head of state has led to calls for the president's resignation.

In a separate development, three Spanish Embassy officials were kidnapped in Beirut on 17 January according to Voice of Lebanon. AFP noted that the kidnappers are seeking the release of two Shi'ites jailed in Spain for the attempted murder of a Libyan official and will "carry out the death sentence passed on the three."

Israel

Israel is negotiating "very seriously" with Jordan and the Palestinians about ways to start the peace process, Prime Minister Shim'on Peres stated during a banquet speech in The Hague reported by Jerusalem radio. Peres also told a news conference in The Hague that he believes Jordan's King Husayn seriously intends to bridge Arab-Israeli differences and that the Soviet Union can play a part in an international conference on the Middle East, according to the radio. These remarks followed Peres' 19 January meeting with Spanish Prime Minister Felipe Gonzalez, which the radio described as "extremely friendly."

Arab reaction to the establishment of diplomatic relations between Israel and Spain included Kuwait's decision to recall its ambassador from Madrid for "consultations," as reported by KUNA. JANA viewed Spain's move as its "biggest mistake" in the otherwise "excellent" relations between the Arab and Spanish peoples.

In a separate development, Jerusalem television cited "reliable" information that one of three Israeli MIA's from the Al-Sultan Ya'qub battle in 1982 is alive and being held in Damascus.

Iran-Iraq War

Iran repelled an Iraqi tank attack on Eynkhosh 18 January and launched a penetration operation in the Darbani Khan sector 19 January in which over 60 Iraqi troops were killed, according to military statements reported by IRNA and Tehran radio. Meanwhile, Iraqi forces inflicted heavy casualities on Iranian troops attempting to advance in the "central operational sector" 20 January, an Iraqi military communique broadcast by Voice of the Masses related.

As for air attacks, Iraqi aircraft raided Khark Island 18 January and hit a large maritime target near the Iranian coast 19 January, according to other Iraqi military communiques carried by Voice of the Masses. A Dutch vessel, the Smit Maassluis, was hit by a missile south of Khark Island 19 January, AFP reported, citing Lloyd's maritime intelligence service. Iran meanwhile has begun placing floating oil docks in the Gulf to thwart Iraqi attempts to hinder its oil exports, IRNA reported.

Jordan

Relations with Syria are "actively progressing toward integration," AL-RA'Y reported, citing a statement by Foreign Minister Tahir al-Masri to the UAE's AL-ITTIHAD. Meanwhile, the Libyan foreign liaison secretary stated in a Damascus news conference that diplomatic relations between Libya and Jordan will be resumed in the near future, according to an AFP report cited by SAWT AL-SHA'B.

Libya

A military decision broadcast by Tripoli radio called on servicemen from other Arab countries to volunteer for the Libyan Armed Forces. The decision, signed by Colonel Mu'ammar al-Qadhdhafi in his capacity as "supreme commander" of the Libyan Armed Forces, said that Arab volunteers whose military service in their own countries ended within the past 3 years and whose rank "must not be above colonel" will be treated in exactly the same way as Libyan servicemen if accepted into the armed services. Meanwhile, a commentary carried by the Voice of Greater Arab Homeland called on the "Arab masses" to adopt the slogan "1,000 suicide and fedayeen operations per day."

Sudan

According to Defense Minister Uthman 'Abdallah, rebel troops inside and outside of the country total about 12,000 men, while 10,000 others are "being held in reserve" and are "in training," SUNA reported. 'Abdallah said the rebel forces suffered "heavy losses" in a series of attacks in various areas 5-17 January, while no government losses were incurred. On the other hand, the clandestine Sudanese People's Liberation Army (SPLA) radio reported that 89 government troops were killed in an ambush by SPLA troops in the Upper Nile region.

DRA-Pakistan

Twenty-three U.S. "advisers" were killed and 7 others wounded when a bus carrying them was bombed in the Kabir Pachah region of Pakistan, according to BAKHTAR. Meanwhile, about 400 Soviet troops "wearing tribal clothes" entered the Pakistani border areas of Khyber and Tirah to "foment trouble" among the local tribes, KUNA reported, citing the PAKISTAN TIMES.

In a political development, 3 nonparty members were appointed vice presidents of the DRA Revolutionary Council and 18 officials were elected to its Presidium, Kabul radio reported.

Eyewitnesses coming to Jalalabad say that the attacks of the free tribes of Khyber people are continuing on the military forces of the despotic regime of Pakistan and getting intensified day by day.

Karmal Addresses Revolutionary Council Session

LD191609 Kabul Domestic Service in Dari 1600 GMT 17 Jan 86

[Concluding speech by Babrak Karmal, general secretary of the PDPA Central Committee and president of the DRA Revolutionary Council, at extraordinary session of the DRA Revolutionary Council in Kabul on 16 January — recorded]

[Excerpts] Esteemed members of the DRA Revolutionary Council. Recently, the Revolutionary Council in its extraordinary session approved most important documents concerning new programs; that is to say, the 10 theses and Revolutionary Council statement. In these documents the nature and the national and democratic characteristics of our revolution and its major and immediate duties, under the present circumstance, were clarified and specified.

The highest organ of the state authority invited all compatriots to take part in the execution of the national and immediate duty of the present stage of the revolution; that is to say, to stop bloodshed, normalize the situation throughout the country, restore peace again throughout our country -- our country, the united revolutionary Afghanistan.

As a result of this invitation, the noble, peace-loving and toiling people of Afghanistan — workers, peasants, tradesman, intelligentsia, clergy, national and commercial and enterpreneurs, and the people of all nationalities, tribes, and clans of the country — have affirmed and expressed their support.

Once again we should declare to the world public that the people of Afghanistan, after being freed from the chains of the British colonialists, once again in 7 Sowr 1357 corresponding with 27 April 1978, have permanently determined their destiny for themselves. [applause] On both occasions, in accordance with the international law, this self-determination was recognized by the people, nations, and countries of the world-including the Western capitalist countries and the United States. The people of Afghanistan no longer receive orders, commands or instructions from outside. [applause]

At this very moment the flag of the DRA -- a free and independent country, an Islamic country, and a member of the nonaligned countries and will remain as such -- is flying high at the United Nations. [applause]

We must point out that the delegates of the people of Afghanistan are taking part in the administration and government of the DRA. The independent people of Afghanistan will never again allow any foreign power — including international and regional reaction headed by the U.S. imperialism and Chinese hegemonism — to impose their notorious regimes on them. The unity of democratic forces forms the social pillar of our government.

At present the party and the revolutionary government are taking major steps to create a positive and advantageous atmosphere of understanding between various social and political forces for the national and social reconstruction of the homeland.

The Revolutionary Council statement -- as regards the inclusion of representatives of all strata and various social groups in the leadership organs of the national and government administration -- is being fulfilled in practice. On this basis the DRA Council of Ministers is being broadened by including credible representatives of society in its composition.

I wanted to point out that among the newly appointed 21 ministers, deputy ministers, and equivalent level high-ranking officials, 15 of them are not party members. This represents the [words indistinct] of the party and revolutionary sovereignty.

The DRA Revolutionary Council heads the system of governmental sovereignty and functions as the highest organ in the country. Its decisions indicate that the words of the party and our revolutionary government are not inconsistent with their action. [applause] We have doubled the size of the Revolutionary Council and its Presidium.

The elected persons in these organs are the most credible representatives of all social strata and groups of the people, all nationalities, tribes, and clans of the country who are faithful patriots and earnestly support the task of the homeland and revolution.

Among the new members of the DRA Revolutionary Council, 71 percent of them are not party members. Thus, the number of the nonparty Revolutionary Council members has reached 39 percent, while previously it was only 2.9 percent. This is a clear example of the broadening of social pillars of the revolutionary sovereignty and of the effort of the party and government to attract all social groups in the administration of the government.

In the near future the Revolutionary Council and its presidium, for the first time since the revolution, will approve the fundamental directions of the socio-economic development of the DRA in 1365-1369 [1365 begins on 21 March 1986]. This will be a historic document which will specify an important stage in the life of the country.

In the coming few months the prosecution department law, sarandoy law, attorneys' law, government sovereignty law, [words indistinct], law on military crimes and a number of other legislative documents, will be approved by the Revolutionary Council.

Naturally, the Revolutionary Council and its Presidium must further more discuss and solve the issues regarding the [words indistinct] specific socio-economic and cultural matters, raising the living standard of the people and consolidating the country's defense capability.

Foreign policy issues are the most important activities of the highest organs of the state sovereignty.

Since the beginning of the April Revolution victory we have declared that Afghanistan is a peace-loving, progressive and (?nonaligned country and with an anti-war position), that condemns aggressive actions and works for the progress and growth of friendly relations with other countries.

Our policy regarding a just solution of relations with Iran and Pakistan is completely clear. [as heard] We have always expressed our readiness to restore normal relations and good neighborliness on the basis of reciprocal respect and noninterference in each other's affairs. On the basis of these principles, talks with Pakistan have been continuing since 1982. These talks have not yet reached any specific agreements nor reduced tension on the borders of Afghanistan, because Pakistan and those forces backing that country have not shown a rational mind, realism, or genuine interest in a political solution. In the future we will strive, in a patient manner, for useful political understanding and talks, because we are sincerely interested in peace and good neighborliness.

Esteemed Revolutionary Council members. I have spoken about the general subjects and future duties of the Revolutionary Council so that all of us can once again more clearly see the great extent of the tasks entrusted to us by the people.

Today the permanent commissions [words indistinct] organs of the Revolutionary Council are being elected. A large number of the members of the council will have specific duties. The permanent commissions are aiding organs. They have the duty to assist the uninterrupted and effective activities of the highest organs of the state sovereignty. Therefore, these commissions will take part in the analysis and compilation of the issues for consideration at council sessions.

Esteemed Revolutionary Council members. Once again I mention that membership in the Revolutionary Council — as the highest organ of the state sovereignty — does not carry any privileges but is a great honor and a formidable responsibility.

Each of you is duty bound to accomplish your social and representational duties without interrupting your the principle duty. You are not to enjoy any material personal gain from your position. We should always (?respect) the trust of the people. Never under any circumstances abuse the position and social status [words indistinct].

Esteemed Revolutionary Council members. Allow me to express confidence that the DRA Revolutionary Council and its Presidium under the new composition, will noticeably improve their tasks, and will (?utilize) the highest sovereignty for the speedy normalization of the situation in the country, successful construction of the new, democratic, progressive society — a society with social justice — with respect for and observance of the sacred religion of Islam and of the traditions and praise-worthy customs of the people residing in our proud and revolutionary Afghanistan. With (?the duties set out) in the 10 theses, the Revolutionary Council statement and decisions of the 16th plenum of the PDPA Central Committee, we will take steps with confidence, faith, courage, determination, and with invincible will (?for their realization). There is no doubt that we will achieve new and formidable victories on this path. [applause]

Pakistan Reportedly Using F-16's Against Pashtuns

LD200646 Kabul BAKHTAR in English 0433 GMT 20 Jan 86

[Text] Kabul, January 19, BAKHTAR — Reports reaching from New Delhi say that the tyrannic government of Pakistan is using U.S.-made F-16 fighters and the modern heavy weapons against the Pashtun free tribes in Khyber Region. Islamabad militarists by using such weapons having the capacity of carrying nuclear weapons are killing hundreds of civil individuals of Pahstun tribes in Khyber region.

The United States under Washington-Pakistan military deal has delivered to Islamabad offensive weapons at a worth of 3.2 billion dollars. Under the same accord Islamabad will be receiving twice as much modern weapons from the United States in the coming years. Rajiv Gandhi has revealed it time and again that the arming of Pakistan with offensive modern weapons poses a serious danger to the security of India and the region.

The F-16 fighter is one of the U.S. most advanced offensive weapons which have been supplied to a limited number of countries such as Israel and Pakistan and other U.S. puppet regimes. Islamabad follows the same militaristic strategy in Asia which Israel is using in the Middle East with the U.S.-made weapons. Israel with the implementation of U.S. strategy in the Middle East shed the blood of thousands of innocent arabs and Pakistan those of Pashtun men and women in the free frontier areas.

Khyber events are indicative of the fact that Islamabad regime in collusion with its American masters intends to solve the frontier problems through resorting to force and military weapons.

Tribal Jirga Expresses Support for Pashtun Tribes

LD191151 Kabul Domestic Service in Dari 1600 GMT 18 Jan 86

[Excerpts] Elders, leaders, and representatives of Hazara nationality of the Jaghuri, Maiestan, and Qarah Bash districts, Ghazni Province, expressed their support for the correct struggle of the brave Afridi and Shenwar tribes of Khyber agency, in a tribal jirga in Kabul yesterday. They strongly condemned the savage and inhuman aggression by the army of Pakistan's despotic regine.

A BAKHTAR correspondent reports this tribal jirga, held at the initiative of the Hazara toiling nationality's Central Council, convened at that Council's headquarters in Kabul. The jirga began with the recitation of a few verses from the holy Koran. Then Sulayman La'eq, PDPA Central Committee Politburo candidate member and minister of nationalities and tribal affairs, discussed the shameful interference of reaction and imperialism, headed by U.S. imperialism, in our country's internal affairs and explained in detail reaction and imperialism's sinister aims in the region of the free tribes.

Sulayman La'eq said: It is delightful that you, the brothers of Hazara nationality, who had been oppressed under past despotic regimes and separated from Pashtun nationality, are gathered here today to support the border Pashtun tribes who are under aggressive and savage attacks by General Ziaul Haq's army. You are declaring your support for them and are expressing your solidarity with their just struggles.

The solidarity and unity of all the fraternal nationalities residing in Afghanistan is one of our party and revolutionary state's human aims. This fact must be clear to everyone, namely, that one nationality cannot accomplish any task on its own, only when all nationalities are united can things be done.

The BAKHTAR correspondent adds that Qabar Ali and Gholam Ali, leaders of Jaghuri District; Abdol Hossain, an elder of Malestan; and Habibollah, an elder of Qarah Bash District, made speeches. Muhammad Awaz Nabizada, deputy minister of nationalities and tribal affairs, the chairman, and a number of members of the Central Council of Hazara nationality were present.

Editorial Views Results of Election in Assam

BK151256 Dhaka THE BANGLADESH OBSERVER in English
13 Jan 86 p 5

[Editorial: "The Ill Wind In Assam"]

[Text] The signing of the Assam Accord in August last seems to have been an ill wind that has blown only somebody some good — and most of others no good at all. That somebody is the AGP [Asom Gana Parishad] — and the Assamese who constitute only 35 percent of the total population of the state. The elections in mid-December have gone badly for Congress (I), the AGP sweeping the polls. The electorate split into linguistic and ethnic groups represented [as published] a break-up of the traditional voting frame and pattern with predictable results. With the AGP government in the saddle the bogey of "foreigners," already an issue on which the AGP fought the elections, received its mandate leverage, and the chief minister has since declared that his government will go ahead with the expulsion drive against the 'aliens' in fulfilment of the election pledge. The whole proceeding from the 6-year anti-immigrant campaign through the accord-signing and the elections, to the installation of the new government has only increased fear and uncertainty among five million — plus residents, particularly Bengali-speaking Hindus and Muslims.

On top of it all comes the news carried by the BSS, following an interview with the Indian Home Minister Mr Chavan, that foreign nationals, meaning those who entered the state after 1971, would be deported, mentioning Bangladesh as the place where they would be. Only a couple of days ago one Union minister of state said in Mizoram that all the foreigners that have entered Assam after 1971 must go not only from Assam but also from India and that the Assam Accord will be fully implemented — part by the state government and the rest by the centre.

The accent in the words and the implied collaboration between centre and state are both notable. Not an off-the-cuff statement, the part relating to foreigners in the rest of India only confirms the apprehension expressed by the critics of the accord about its effect in other states of India. Which shows that what is happening in Assam will not remain confined there. The question that such implications of the accord raises is: what the Union Administration is up to — and how it is going to gain?

The accord has resulted in sharply divided ethnic, linguistic and religious groups emerging in Assam, and has the same divisive potential for other states in the Union. In Assam itself a sort of territorial division on the ethnic apd linguistic basis exists, for instance, between the Brahmaputra valley, predominantly Assamese and the Barak valley dominated by Bengalees-Hindus and Muslims. The accord can be said to have exacerbated such divisions.

With Mr Chavan's disclosure that the deportees would be pushed into Bangladesh, the latter comes into the picture more directly than ever before. The Bangladesh stance on the question has been reiterated more than once that it has none of its nationals in Assam. Mrs Gandhi in Indian Parliament had also said (1983) that there were no Bangladeshis in Assam. Under the new dispensation, however, all this becomes a thing of the past. Added to this is also the abrasive of 'fencing' which, according to the Indian home minister, will be erected in selected areas. Deportation and fencing, each separately, or both together, are bound to put a strain on neighbourly relations which have lately shown signs of marked improvement, particularly in the aftermath of the Dhaka SAARC [South Asian Association for Regional Cooperation] summit.

Quite a few other problems such as the implementation of 1974 boundary agreement and the handing over of the Tin Bigha corridor to Bangladesh and the Ganges water distribution (hopefully, in process of being resolved) remain to be sorted out between India and Bangladesh. In a climate of amity which the seven regional partners are trying to create, anything regionally cropping up to ruffle it, would be most unfortunate, indeed. Any spirit of cooperation and harmony would need to be supported by the political will to promote it by means of concrete acts of friendliness and mutual consideration between India and its neighbours.

Rajiv Gandhi Reconstitutes Congress-I Party

[Text] Three union ministers and the deputy chairman of the Rajya Sabha are resigning their posts on being appointed office-bearers in the Congress-I. They are the commerce minister, Mr Arjun Singh, who has been appointed vice president of the Congress-I; and the minister of state for petroleum, Mr Naval Kishore Sharma; and the labor minister, Mr T. Anjiah; both of whom have been appointed general secretaries of the AICC-I [All India Congress-I Committee]. The deputy chairman of the Rajya Sabha, Mrs Najma Heptullah, has also been appointed general secretary in the party.

Announcing the appointments at a news conference in New Delhi today, the Congress-I president, Mr Rajiv Gandhi, said he has reconstituted the working committee, the parliamentary board, and the Secretariat as part of his effort to revitalize and rejuvenate the party. The vice president will function under the overall guidance of the working president, Mr Kamalapati Tripathi. Mr Rajiv Gandhi recalled his statement at last month's congress centenary celebrations in Bombay in which he had mentioned the steps he would take to galvanize the party to bring it to the supreme position vis-a-vis the government [word indistinct]. He said under the new setup the party will function with much greater autonomy.

Mr Rajiv Gandhi also announced that Mr Ahmed Patel will be the new Pradesh [State] Congress-I president in Gujarat and Mr Oscar Fernandes in Karnataka.

Mr Rajiv Gandhi said he is confident that the Punjab accord will be implemented shortly. He said we stand by the accord and there is no question of deviating from it. Mr Gandhi said the government is waiting for the Mathew Commission's report and will not interfere with the commission's work. He did not agree with the view that the accord was in jeopardy because of the recent developments in connection with the language survey in Fazilka and Muktsar tehsils [revenue areas].

When a correspondent said that communal tension has built up in Kandukhera village because of the language survey, Mr Gandhi said these are not communal tensions but are based on language. Whenever there is such a problem, such tensions will build up. Despite the fear of violence just before the language survey, it has been carried out peacefully.

Tension Continues Over Akal Thakt Demolition

Moderate Sikhs Oust Militants

HK200749 Hong Kong AFP in English 0730 GMT 20 Jan 86

[By Rajinder Berri]

[Excerpts] Amritsar, India, Jan 20 (AFP) — Sikh moderates regained complete control of Golden Temple here today, having dislodged Sikh militants from the shrine after a brief gunbattle yesterday that left eight wounded, Sikh sources here said.

A spokesman for the militants, Surat Singh, said: "We have been kicked out of our rooms (in the temple complex) by the Akali Dal workers, who were helped by Indian paramilitary forces." A spokesman for the moderates' Sikh temple committee, Bhan Singh, confirmed that the militants had been disloged from the temple.

Said a Sikh eyewitness: "It was a night-long operation. The moderates entered the rooms occupied by the militants and threw them out. They also took possession of the office which the militants had opened there."

Yesterday's fighting inside the Golden Temple complex — the Sikh religion's holiest shrine — has heightened tension in this Sikh holy city. Moderate Sikhs of the youth wing of the Akali Dal exchanged gunfire yesterday with militant Sikhs of the All-India Sikh Students' Federation.

Moderate Sikhs ended a campaign for greater autonomy for their homeland in this northern Indian state of Punjab after striking a deal with the Indian Government. But militant Sikhs continue to campaign, often violently, for a separate state. "There is tension in the city and we are on full alert," Amritsar city official Ravi Inder Singh said today.

Eyewitnesses said several thousand people, some of them supporters of the rival groups that clashed yesterday, remained inside the temple. "They were brought here as part of a show-of-strength strategy," said one Sikh source. "Both the warring factions want to consolidate their position in the event of more violence."

Tension has been mounting since militants started arriving here last week to demolish and rebuild the Akal Thakt — the temple's inner sanctum. Sikh sources said the militants appeared determined to demolish the building despite the reverse they suffered yesterday. "We will go ahead as planned. This is just a temporary setback," the leader of a group of militants from a Sikh seminary, Mokhan Singh, said. The Akal Thakt was due to be demolished on Sunday [19 January].

Police Enter Golden Temple

HK200456 Hong Kong AFP in English 0437 GMT 20 Jan 86

[Text] Amritsar, India, Jan 20 (AFP) — Indian police entered the Golden Temple here after violent clashes between Sikh youths in the complex had left eight wounded and spurred tension in the city, an official said today. "There is tension in the city and we are on full alert", city official Inder Ravi Inder Singh told AGENCE FRANCE PRESSE.

Plainclothes police entered the temple — the Sikhs' holiest shrine — yesterday, Mr. Singh said. Sikhs consider it a sacrilege for the country's armed forces to enter their shrines. The police went in around 1500 GMT and stayed for between two to three hours.

At least six people, all Sikhs, were wounded in the gun battle between rival youths which erupted inside the complex over the issue of demolition of parts of the shrine, police said. This was the first time since the Indian Army's assault on the Golden Temple in June 1984 that people had clashed inside the temple with guns.

Paramilitary forces were seen patrolling areas around the temple today, eyewitnesses said. Police reported no arrests.

Meanwhile, several thousand people remained inside the temple, eyewitnesses said, and some of them were supporters of the rival groups.

Sikh militants threaten to demolish parts of the shrine on January 26 and to rebuild the Akal Thakt — the highest seat of the Sikh religion.

The violence was linked to tension between the troubled northern state's ruling Sikh party, the moderate Akali Dal, and militants over the reconstruction of the Thakt, heavily damaged in the assault on the temple. The Thakt was first repaired under the leadership of Baba Santa Singh, who is chief of an order of Nihangs, the traditional armed temple guards. But both the moderates and the militants, who are represented by the newly-formed rival United Akali Dal faction, strongly disapproved of the repairs, and the Nihang chief was later excommunicated for his action by five Sikh high priests. The two factions then decided separately that the Takht should be demolished and rebuilt, leading the two sides to fight over who is to carry out the reconstruction, observers said.

Sikh Militants Recapture Office

HK200912 Hong Kong AFP in English 0901 GMT 20 Jan 86

[Excerpt] Amritsar, India, Jan 20 (AFP) — Sword-wielding Sikh militants recaptured their office in the Golden Temple here today after being ousted briefly following a gunbattle with moderates, eyewitnesses said.

The eyewitnesses said activists of the pro-militant All India Sikh Students Federation used kripans, traditional short swords, to storm the temple complex supported by followers of Damdami

Taksal, a fundamentalist Sikh group. The witnesses said they reoccupied an office the federation claimed to have set up recently in preparation to demolish and rebuild the temple's building housing the Akal Thakt, the highest seat in Sikhdom.

No information on fresh casualties or other details was immediately available.

Indian Army on Alert

HK210532 Hong Kong AFP in English 0509 GMT 21 Jan 86

[Excerpts] New Delhi, Jan 21 (AFP) — The Indian Army has been put on alert with five days to go before Republic Day celebrations and tension mounting in the states of Punjab and Haryana, THE INDIAN EXPRESS reported today.

Sikh militants have announced plans for a new action on Sunday and the city of Chandigarh, currently the joint capital of the Sikh-dominated Punjab and Hindu-dominated Haryana, will go to the Punjab that day.

"Reports reaching here from the two states suggest there is lot of tension. The situation may take a communal turn if strict vigil is not kept," THE INDIAN EXPRESS said in a front page report.

Indian officials were unavailable for comment on the EXPRESS report that the army had been placed on alert to guard against possible trouble.

Observers said that the proposed transfer of Chandigarh to the Punjab, in return for the switchover of a cluster of Punjabi villages to Haryana, has created huge tensions in the states. They said the state governments appear reluctant to go by the accord worked out in July as part of Prime Minister Rajiv Gandhi's effort to end a violent drive by Sikh militants for political concessions in the Punjab.

Mr Gandhi and federal President Zail Singh, himself a Sikh, are to make appearances in New Delhi to mark the Republic Day.

Sikh militants have said they would demolish and rework government repairs on the "Akal Thakt" — the inner sanctum of the Golden Temple complex in the city of Amritsar, Sikhdom's holiest shrine.

Reports from Amritsar said Sikh militants and moderates were gearing to face each other over the issue of rebuilding the Akal Thakt, which was badly damaged during the June 1984 army assault on the temple to flush out militants. The moderates want to do the work themselves.

New Delhi on Alert As Sikh Attacks Feared

HK211012 Hong Kong AFP in English 1002 GMT 21 Jan 86

[Excerpts] New Delhi, Jan 21 (AFP) — Police were on full alert here today amid fears that Sikh militants might unleash a wave of violence to mark tomorrow's verdict in the Indira Gandhi murder trial and Republic Day celebrations on Sunday, police said.

The capital's entire 35,000 police force had been asked to be on duty and all leave had been cancelled, police said.

Police believe that five Sikh militants had entered the capital to disrupt the trial verdict with violent acts. A top police official meanwhile said that an arrested Sikh militant had allegedly confessed plans to throw hand grenades at top officials in Republic Day celebrations.

Security was greatly stepped up around government ministers and MP's and a strict vigil was in force at the city water supply system, power stations, and New Delhi Airport, police said.

(A PRESS TRUST OF INDIA news agency report from Punjab State today said that about 20 volunteers of the militant All India Sikh Students Federation were arrested last night as a precautionary measure.)

(Among the arrested was Jagjit Singh Rode, the younger brother of the late Sikh leader Jarnail Singh Bhindranwale, who was killed when the Indian Army assaulted the Golden Temple in Amritsar in June, 1984.)

Judge Mahesh Chandra is to deliver judgement tomorrow in the former premier's murder trial, inside the city's top security prison, the Tihar jail.

Mrs Gandhi was allegedly gunned down by two of her Sikh bodyguards on October 31, 1984. Three Sikhs are on trial for her slaying, one on murder charges and the other two on conspiracy to murder.

Police threw a tight security web around Mr Chandra by posting as many as 60 policemen to guard the judge, police said.

A group of police commandos were also posted in Tihar prison where the three accused were detained, prison officials said.

Police said that a group of five Sikhs wanted in connection with a series of bomb blasts here last year, had infiltrated into the capital to carry out violent acts. As many as 90 people were killed in the bomb blasts across northern India in May last year. The blasts were blamed on Sikhs seeking revenge for the anti-Sikh riots that swamped parts of the country after Mrs Gandhi's killing.

The police alert in New Delhi comes five days before Indian Republic Day celebrations when Prime Minister Rajiv Gandhi and President Zail Singh are scheduled to make public appearances here.

Police Commissioner Ved Marwah told a press conference here today that they had arrested one of the most wanted Sikh "terrorists" and that he had been planning to throw hand grenades at top officials in Republic Day celebrations on Sunday.

Mr Marwah said that Harjinder Singh (Jinda), 24, was arrested last night in New Delhi and was found to be in the possession of a revolver, an army hand grenade and three rounds of cartridges. He added that Harjinder was believed to have taken part in five bank robberies and was one of the suspected assassins of two prominent local Congress (I) leaders here last year.

'Terrorist Ring' Suspected Behind Parcel Bomb

[Text] New Delhi, Jan 17 (AFP) — Police today said they suspected an international terrorist ring was behind the presence of a powerful parcel bomb found in a house here at the weekend.

Area police chief Maxwell Pereira said the 4.5 kg (9.9 pound) bomb, whose discovery was revealed yesterday, was fitted with a remote control detonator and clock. He said the device, concealed in a parcel discovered by a servant on a stairway in the house, was "not Indian... except the clock, all the components are made in either European or other advanced countries."

Police suspected that an international terrorist ring was involved, he said, adding that the bomb was powerful enough to destroy buildings, a power station or other installations.

An unspecified number of foreign tourists here had been rounded up for questioning in connection with the bomb's discovery at the house owned by a travel agent in Anand Niketan, an elegant southern residential district, he said.

"Some tourists visited the house from where the bomb was discovered and our information says that they may be involved," the police chief said. He refused to divulge the foreign tourists' nationality. No formal arrests have been reported in the case.

In a separate incident, he said police on Wednesday [15 January] arrested two Sikhs on the street here as they were carrying 47 swords, 85 daggers and 149 pieces of smaller sharp-edged weapons in gunny bags from a railway station to Sikh shrines.

The discovery of the bomb and weapons, which prompted police to sound a fresh alert warning residents not to touch unknown objects or accept packets from strangers, have assumed importance as Republic Day celebrations are only eight days away.

Some 100 people were killed in northern India last year when suspected Sikh militants planted bombs in apparent revenge for the anti-Sikh riots that followed the October 1984 assassination of Prime Minister Indira Gandhi.

The two sides agreed on many provisions of the proposed final text of an agreement that will formalize the oral agreement between President Ziaul Haq and Indian Prime Minister Rajiv

SRI LANKA

Jayewardene Supports Decision on Stateless Persons

BK191141 Colombo International Service in English 1030 GMT 19 Jan 86

[Text] President J.R. Jayewardene has stated that no one, whatever they may say, will be able to reverse the decision that was taken a few days ago to solve the problem of statelessness. Speaking at a ceremony held last evening at Gampaha, Mr Jayewardene pointed out that it was our duty to find a solution to this human problem. This, he said, was arrangement of the Sirimavo-Shastri Pact. The solution to the problem of nearly 200,000 people was that India agreed to accept nearly 100,000 of these people while Sri Lanka agreed to accept the balance.

Mr Jayewardene noted that a person without citizenship does not have a right to vote or employment. In such a situation there could be a tendency for individuals to take to terrorism. He asked: What is wrong in giving citizenship to this group of people if they are already living in Sri Lanka? If not, what was the alternative?

Referring to terrorism in the north, the president stated that India, which has heritage of nonviolence, cannot support violence whatever the problem may be. He said he had spoken with Mrs Indira Gandhi and with Mr Rajiv Gandhi about this. Mr Jayewardene added that Sri Lanka is prepared to solve its own problems and called for the support of everyone to do so. Speaking further, the president stated that a general election and a presidential election would be held at the appropriate time.

Colombo-Based Diplomats Receive Terrorist Propaganda

BK191139 Colombo International Service in English 1030 GMT 19 Jan 86

[Text] Secret terrorist cells in the city have begun a new propaganda war against the government. They are feeding regular reports to Colombo-based diplomatic missions refuting the reports relating to terrorism and the Tamil ethnic conflict. All the material is contained in sheets bearing the letter-head of the Liberation Tigers of Tamil Eelam — LTTE.

Some of the recent material in the terrorist propaganda sheets have been aimed against the findings of the committee monitoring the cessation of hostilities and recent clashes between security forces and terrorists. The terrorist propaganda statements are released within hours of the National Security Ministry issuing communique on terrorist incidents. It also gives the detailed terrorist version of the incident.

Government Troops Kill LTTE District Leader

HK180640 Hong Kong AFP in English 0630 GMT 18 Jan 86

[Text] Colombo, Jan 18 (AFP) — Sri Lankan troops have killed the area leader of a militant Tamil separatist group and two of his key associates in a raid on a hideout in the north of the country, National Security Minister Lalith Athulathmudali said today.

The district leader of the Liberation Tigers of Tamil Eelam (LTTE) for northern Kilinochchi and two associates were killed in a shootout with troops Thursday [16 January] when troops raided a hideout in Uttarapuram, Security Ministry sources said.

Three members of the security forces were killed in two separate incidents yesterday in the northeastern Trincomalee District, the Security Ministry said. Two soldiers were killed and three wounded when suspected Tamil militants blew up their vehicle with a landmine near Dehiwatte, and one policeman died and two were wounded when a police patrol came under heavy fire in the same area. The latest incidents brought to 13 the death toll of security forces in violence in Sri Lanka this month, according to official figures.

The English language daily THE ISLAND said today that the northern city of Jaffna was a "dead city" yesterday after the government declared a 1,000 metre (yard) security zone around army and police camps in Jaffna fort on Thursday. Both the town and its main institutions fell within the zone and there was a marked lack of staff in government departments, the newspaper said. Bus crews refused to take their vehicles out and the market remained closed.

The security zone was declared after the camps in the fort had come under mortar attack from militants twice this week, killing one soldier and wounding two. The government warned that it would be compelled to retaliate with heavy weapons.

The Security Ministry also reported today that six militants had been killed in clashes between troops and Tamil militants in Navatkuli in the Jaffna District Thursday.

Heavy Fighting Near Batticaloa

HK200630 Hong Kong AFP in English 0557 GMT 20 Jan 86

[Text] Colombo, Jan 20 (AFP) — Tamil militants blew up a house with eight men chained inside during a seven-hour battle with security forces in eastern Batticaloa that killed 31 people, the national security minister said today. Twenty-one Tamil separatists and two policemen died in the pre-dawn clash yesterday at Irudayapuram, just outside Sri Lanka's eastern capital Batticaloa, Minister Lalith Athulathmudali told AGENCE FRANCE-PRESSE.

He said police also rescued an Indian Tamil, who was about to be executed by the militants. The militants had identified the man, from a hill country plantation, as an informant, and the man is to be questioned by the National Intelligence Bureau.

The minister said police, supported later by special task force commandos, had encircled Irudayapuram Village on a tip that militants were hiding there. The militants opened fire, killing two policemen instantly. The battle continued till shortly before noon. Seven of the 21 militants who died had swallowed poisonous cyanide capsules, the minister said. Police discovered the bodies of eight chained men thought to have been held captive inside a house that the militants had blown up probably as a defensive measure, he said. "They were probably suspected of being informants and were being questioned," he said. Some sources said they might also have been members of a rival group or had been trying to defect.

The clash was one of the most serious in recent months, and Batticaloa residents today said the predominantly Tamil town was still tense. Not many people were seen moving about and business appeared to be slack.

Security sources said the militants were concentrated at Irudayapuram, less than a kilometre (.62 mile) from the Batticaloa police station, possibly in preparation for an attack on the police.

Mr. Athulathmudali said that one of the dead militants had been identified as being from the Tamil Eelam Liberation Organisation (TELO), one of many Tamil groups fighting for a separate state in the north and east. Suicide using cyanide capsules is usually associated with the Liberation Tigers of Tamil Eelam (LTTE), and some observers said this might suggest that the two groups were planning a joint attack.

Meanwhile the navy rescued 19 men, women and children from a capsized boat in northwestern Mannar on Saturday, official sources said. They were Tamils who had fled to southern India after race riots in July 1983. A spokeswoman for the group told state television that they had left southern India because of intolerable conditions there. Seven others in the boat are believed to have drowned, navy sources said.

Further on Militant Attacks

[Excerpts] Tamil terrorists had continued their offensive launched 3 days ago. They staged 12 serious attacks over the past 2 days killing civilians and armed forces personnel. Those killed by the terrorists included a subinspector of police and a police constable attached to the Batticaloa police; a civilian, who was shot dead for allegedly passing information about the terrorists to the authority.

Meanwhile, police killed 14 terrorists in a shoot out in Irudayapuram in the eastern province yesterday morning, while 7 terrorists committed suicide by taking poisonous tablets to escape capture. Two police officers were also killed in the battle.

Meanwhile, on Saturday, Thangaraja, a bread supplier to the Point Pedro army camp in the north was shot dead by the terrorists.

In (Tondanamanaru,) army patrols were attacked by terrorists and an officer and two soldiers received minor injury.

At Karativu, naval patrol spotted a speeding fiberglass dinghy and when a bomb was shot at them, it defied navy orders to stop. Ministry sources said that the dinghy had exploded and this indicated that the dinghy was carrying terrorists and exploded.

In Batticaloa, in the eastern province, terrorists blasted the office of the assistant government agent yesterday.

Foreign Ministry Communique Condemns U.S. Veto

GF190443 Tehran Domestic Service in Persian 0330 GMT 19 Jan 86

[Text] Our country's Foreign Ministry issued a communique castigating the U.S. veto of the resolution proposed by Lebanon to the UN Security Council on the Zionist regime's aggression, deeming it an indication of the anti-human nature and the long-standing animosity of the United States against Muslims and oppressed nations. It was stated in the communique that the United States endeavors to use the United Nations as the fulcrum of power against the rising nations of the world, and whenever there is the question of a rightful stance, it thwarts the path of a vote for truth by its illegitimate right to use the veto.

The Islamic Republic of Iran condemns the atrocities and aggression of the usurpist Zionist regime and its real ally, the United Sattes. It reiterates to all Muslims of the world that the Zionist regime must be eliminated so that dear Jerusalem may be delivered from the inauspicious domination of Zionism and imperialism. The Foreign Ministry communique added that the Islamic Republic of Iran considers any negotiations or compromise with the Zionist regime as tantamount to treachery against Islam and Muslims and the Palestinian aspirations. It is confident that the anti-human stance of the United States cannot prevent their struggle and that the Muslim peoples of Lebanon and Palestine will continue their mission until the annihilation of the Zionist regime. They have the support of the Islamic Republic of Iran in this regard.

Spanish Envoy Summoned Over Ties With Israel

GF190521 Tehran Domestic Service in Persian 0330 GMT 19 Jan 86

[Text] Following the announcement of the official establishment of relations between Spain and the usurpist Jerusalem regime by the Spanish Government, the Spanish ambassador in Tehran was summoned by the director of political affairs for the Americas and European countries to the Foreign Ministry yesterday afternoon.

According to the Central News Unit, the director of political affairs for the Americas and European countries criticized any measure which officially recognizes the racist Zionist regime and would result in its strengthening and consolidation. He asked the Spanish ambassador in Tehran for an explanation for the establishment of relations between Spain and the occupationist Jerusalem regime. He added that the forging of ties between any country and the usurpist Jerusalem regime is interpreted as an insult to Muslims, due to the aggressive and expansionist nature of this regime, and will be the source of obstacles in the relations of such countries with Islamic and Arabic countries and the freedom-loving countries of the world.

Referring to the various factors which contributed to this decision by his government, the Spanish ambassador in Tehran said: This action does not mean the endorsement of Israel's policy and we hope that it will not affect the traditional and cordial ties with the Islamic Republic of Iran and other Islamic nations.

The spokesman of our country's Foreign Ministry said in a message that following the announcement of the official establishment of ties between Spain and the Zionist regime, the Islamic Republic of Iran's envoy in Madrid has been recalled to Tehran to review the matter.

Diplomatic Relations Decried

GF190900 Tehran Domestic Service in Persian 0430 GMT 19 Jan 86

[Commentary by the Central News Unit research group]

[Excerpts] Last Friday, the documents marking the opening of ties between Spain and Israel were signed in the presence of their respective political delegations in the Hague.

Spain has officially recognized the Israeli regime and has established ties with it, despite the fact Israel has not taken any steps to recognize the rights of the Palestinian people. The manifestation of such a phenomenon is undoubtedly concomitant with the situation in the region. We shall review in brief the gradual change in the political circumstances in Spain.

Prior to this, it would be appropriate to cast a cursory glance on the reaction by those who stand to gain in this regard. Israeli Foreign Minister Yitzhak Shamir has summarily deemed the opening of the doors of ties between Spain and Israel as a momentous step in strengthening Israel's international status. The Spanish prime minister announced with extreme caution in an attempt to conciliate Muslims and Arabs, that the establishment of ties between Spain and Israel at the highest level is not tantamount to an endorsement of Israel's foreign and domestic policies. He added that he is hopeful that the Arab people will understand Spain's stance.

The most vehement reaction was from the Arab League secretary-general who stated on the same day that the Arab countries regret the forging of ties between Spain and Israel. He added that Spain's decision came at a time when Israel had accelerated its policy of force on the occupied lands, particularly Jerusalem, and had attacked Lebanon and Tunis. The Arab League secretary-general expressed his regret that in making such an unfortunate decision, the depth of relations between Spain and the Arabs had been ignored and it was probable that it would mar mutual ties.

The Spanish Government exercised extreme caution and adopted the most conservative principles and formulae to express its opinion on relations with Arabs and Israel. It endeavored to mitigate the intensity of the adverse reaction to this decision as much as possible. However, what changes will result with the advent of such a phenomenon in Spain's Middle East policy on the outside world? From the end of the seventies and up to the beginning of the eighties, which was marked the rapid rise of industrial growth in Spain, this country had extensive trade links with the Arab and the North African countries. The oil from these countries sustained Spain until it could move ahead on its own along the path of industrial progress.

With its improved position, and the weakness of the Arab countries in the Middle East, Spain was successful in establishing relations with the Israeli Government without any ostensible repercussions. Due to such a state of affairs, there is no doubt that any sort of links with Israel by countries which profess to be friends of Muslim countries will not only be unwelcome for the Palestinians and the people of the world, but will also be considered as a highly erroneous step, a step that could only be taken by those who are the enemies of Palestine.

Dutch Vessel Reportedly Hit by Missile at Khark

NC191229 Paris AFP in English 1157 GMT 19 Jan 86

[Text] London, Jan 19 (AFP) — A Dutch vessel, the Smit Maassluis, was hit today by a missile south of Iran's main Gulf oil terminal at Khark Island, Lloyds' Maritime Intelligence Service said here. It was not immediately known if there were casualties or to what extent the 495-tonne vessel was damaged. The source of the missile was also not known.

Iraq has been carrying out a series of raids on vessels and the Khark Island terminal in the Gulf as part of a campaign to stop Iranian oil exports and force the Iranians to end the 64-month-old Gulf war. On January 5, a Maltese tanker, the Koncar, was hit in the Gulf by Iraqi jets.

Iraq Fails To Halt Iranian Oil Exports

LD191928 Tehran IRNA in English 1805 GMT 19 Jan 86

["Iran Giving Priority Protection to Oil Export Channels" — IRNA headline]

[Text] Tehran, Jan. 19, IRNA — The recent policy of the Islamic Government to diversify sources for its oil exports will reduce the importance of the oil terminal in the southern Khark Island, and will allow Iran to continue its export of oil despite any Iraqi effort to halt it.

Recently Prime Minister Hoseyn Musavi announced after a cabinet meeting that the construction jihad has finished the road running parallel to the pipeline that goes from the oil wells to ports on the shores of the Persian Gulf.

IRNA's oil correspondent who visited the southern oil fields recently reports that despite Iraqi efforts to destroy the Khark Island oil terminal, Iran's exports continue. Iraqi military communiques on the "complete destruction" of the terminal are far too unrealistic even for the Western media to heed.

While Iraqi claims to have halted the flow of oil from the tiny island are broadcast daily, international oil companies claim that the Islamic Republic is producing more than its OPEC share of 2.3 million BPD [barrels per day].

In a bid to thwart Iraqi attacks aimed at halting Iran's oil exports and grounding down the war effort, the Islamic Republic initially started the use of oil tankers for ferrying oil to foreign tankers that came to the Persian Gulf. It has now started placing floating oil docks in various parts of the Persian Gulf. The pipelines used for connection the floating docks to the shore are easily constructed and are safer in case of air attacks.

For the construction of the pipeline, Iranian experts were mobilized in several agencies. The minister of oil Gholam Reza Aqazadeh has said that members of the construction jihad will be deployed for the construction of another pipeline that will run over a thousand kilometers to a port in the eastern shores of the Persian Gulf. The project has been reviewed several times by the Majlis (parliament) and is said to be winding its way through the legislation. The project will frustrate all Iraqi hopes of halting the Iranian oil exports and on the contrary will increase Iran's flexibility in meeting demand for its oil.

Nevertheless the greater capacity does not mean that Iran intends to increase its exports. The Islamic Republic hopes to safeguard the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries by maintaining its official quota.

Khamene'i Feted at Banquet

LD171753 Tehran IRNA in English 1535 GMT 17 Jan 86

[Text] Dar es Salaam, Jan. 17, IRNA — Visiting President 'Ali Khamene'i of Iran attended a banquet given in his honour here Thursday and discussed with his host, President Hassan Mwinyi of Tanzania the stance of their countries vis-a-vis international issues. Tanzanian prime minister and his cabinet ministers, members of Revolutionary Party of Tanzania and other high-ranking officials from Tanzania were present at the banquet.

Speaking at the ceremony, President Khamene'i talked about the South African apartheid regime, the Qods occupying regime, Iran's support for African frontline states as well as the Iraqi-imposed war... Relations between Iran and Tanzania as well as regional and international issues were among other topics mentioned by the president. The applause of audience frequently interrupted the president's speech which was broadcast live on Tanzanian state-owned radio.

President Khamene'i said that Tanzania's policy which is independent from that of the superpowers is a sample of the joint Irano-Tanzania policies. The Islamic Republic of Iran is pursuing and sympathizing with African countries struggling against the South African apartheid regime, the president said. President Khamene'i concluded that Iran will continue its political and moral support for struggles of African countries and especially that of the Frontline States.

In response, President Mwinyi described Khamene'i's visit to his country as an honour for Tanzania and then outlined the joint Irano-Tanzania stance vis-a-vis colonialism and aggression of foreign powers. The Tanzanian president said that his country would not change its policies towards Namibia and apartheid and lauded Iran's stance against the Zionist regime and in favour of the Palestinians.

Khamene'i Receives ANC Leaders

LD172347 Tehran Domestic Service in Persian 1630 GMT 17 Jan 86

[Text] According to a report from the Central News Unit from Tanzania, the leaders of the African National Congress [ANC] this morning met with Mr Khamene'i, the president of our country. In this meeting Mr Khamene'i, while endorsing the justified struggles of African peoples, said: We follow the struggles of the South African people with interest and sympathy because they are engaged in just struggles, and we hope for their victory.

Then one of the leaders of the ANC said: We highly value this meeting. We are in the process of struggle against a regime which enjoys a great deal of support, but the assistance extended by the Islamic Republic of Iran -- particularly, the halt of oil exports to South Africa that began with the victory of the Islamic Revolution and resulted in curtailing the movements of the regime's military vehicles on their way to bomb innocent people -- has been very effective for our people. He added: I think it is necessary to thank your government and the people for their kindness and unsparing support.

In conclusion, the president of our country noted: Victory carries with it only one condition, and that is popular resistance and reliance on the sentiments and feelings of the people. We declare our unswerving support for the struggles of the oppressed people of South Africa.

In the same meeting, Minister of Foreign Affairs Velayati invited the leaders of the ANC to visit our country and this invitation was accepted. Also, several deputies of the Islamic Consultative Assembly who accompanied Mr Khamene'i this morning met with the speaker of Tanzania's parliament.

Khamene'i Meets Nyerere, Mwinyi

GF180601 Tehran Domestic Service in Persian 0330 GMT 18 Jan 86

[Text] In connection with President Khamene'i's visit to Tanzania, our correspondent reports: [Begin recording] Revolutionary leader Mr Nyerere and Tanzanian President Mr Ali Hassan Mwinyi met with Mr Khamene'i, the president of the Islamic Republic of Iran, at his residence [time and date not given]. During the meeting, the president of our country referred to the continuing exploitation of Africa and noted that oppression continues with the backing of the United States and the other superpowers. He added: One should use force against the satanic forces; perhaps one may not be able to match their modern weapons and machinery of war, but we have had the experience of clashing with one of the greatest superpowers of the world.

Mr Khamene'i stated that his visit is designed to call on the frontline fighters in Africa to rely on the people. He said: We must, with the help of all freedom-loving people of the world, make a concerted effort.

Mr Julius Nyerere replied: We must respect your revolution, because your revolution is a popular revolution. It has been proven so by the fact that although you lost 72 of your leaders at one time, there appeared to be no disruptions within your country. Such an incident in other countries, even the loss of a single leader, would have, in all probability, resulted in chaos.

Mr Nyerere thanked Iran for immediately severing its relations with the racist regime in South Africa. He said: Iran is the only nonaligned country in the world which is attached to neither the West nor the East. For this reason the superpowers dislike your revolution. [end recording]

In reply Mr Seyyed 'Ali Khamene'i expressed his pleasure that the Muslim brothers from both the Sunni and Shi'ite sects were gathered there. He said: The Iranian nation follows the Koran and the unity between the Sunnis and Shi'ites has made its revolution successful. The first message of the Islamic revolution stresses unity among the Sunnis and Shi'ites. We Muslims are l billion strong in this world. However, the enemies of humanity have always tried to destroy the unity of the Muslim peoples and their spiritual and material assets.

Mr Khamene'i said: The Islamic revolution of Iran began with a view toward reviving Islamic values and objectives. The Iranian nation, by sacrificing lives and material, has made it a success and Imam Khomeyni, the leader of Islam, has taken up the task of once again raising the standard of Islam and introducing Islamic laws.

Mr Khamene'i continued: I am glad to announce that after 14 centuries, and despite the designs against it by satanic forces, today there exists a country whose constitution is guided by the Koran and Islam. Today's Iran is a country which has rejected all Eastern and Western systems. In this country, what is prohibited by Islam stands prohibited and what is lawful must be followed.

Our president added: Today we take pride in saying that our country is the herald of the Islamic system. Despite 6 years of imposed war, the economic blockade against us, and the propaganda of the Zionist media, our enemies have failed to scare us. There is no power under the sky or in this entire world that can scare the Iranian people.

Concerning those who fight against the South African regime, Mr Khamene'i said: We must uas all our resources to support the frontliine fighters engaged in this task. We support the oppressed and against the oppressor. We will strive until true justice is established, because today the awakening of Muslims has started and the revival of Islam has given new impetus to the Muslim community. It has doubled our hopes for victory.

Mr Khamene'i concluded his address saying: Today humanity is groaning under pressure and oppression, and is near extinction. The only hope against this calamity is Islam, the Koran, and the unity of all Muslims.

Attends Friday Prayers in Zanzibar

GF181013 Tehran Domestic Service in Persian 0430 GMT 18 Jan 86

[Text] Hojjat ol-Eslam Khamene'i, the Friday imam of Tehran, yesterday attended Friday prayers in the (Malendi) Mosque in Zanzibar. In a speech Mr Khamene'i made note of the oppression of the superpowers and their agents, including the oppression of the South African regime over the African people. He said: We have announced our solidarity with countries engaged in combating the Pretorian regime.

The Iranian president stressed that the United States had a share in the oppression of the South African regime and the oppression of the Zionist regime in the Middle East. He also noted the struggle of Muslims in Iran against the United States. He said: We have, on all political, military, and economic fronts and with the backing of our people, defeated the United States. The message of the Iranian people to you and to all the oppressed of the world is: resistance until victory.

During in an interview with Zanzibar television upon his return to Dar es Salaam from Zanzibar, President Mr Khamene'i said: The Iraqi attack on Iran that began with the blessings of the United States has been repelled by the Iranian resistance. We believe that the war will end in complete victory for our forces.

During another part of the interview, speaking about the Iranian help and economic cooperation with Tanzania, the president of the Islamic Republic of Iran said: So far we have been giving Tanzania some financial help. We hope that this help will increase in the future.

The Iranian Voice and Vision correspondent reports that the ulema of Zanzibar also met with Mr Seyyed 'Ali Khamene'i at the Institute of Foreign Languages in Zanzibar yesterday.

Meets With SWAPO Leaders

GF180832 Tehran Domestic Service in Persian 0430 GMT 18 Jan 86

[Text] According to a Central News Unit report, the leaders of SWAPO [Southwest African People's Organization] called on Iranian President Mr Seyyed 'Ali Khamene'i in Dar es Salaam yesterday. At this meeting our president referred to the just struggle of the people in South Africa. He said: Our people, who have made the Islamic revolution succeed after many sacrifices and hardships, sympathize fully with your cause and will help you as far as they can, because our support for your struggle corresponds to our way of thinking and the objectives of our revolution. The president said: The Pretoria regime is no stronger than the regime of the late shah and if you continue your struggle it will meet the same fate as the shah's regime.

One of the callers responded by expressing his pleasure in meeting the president of Iran and by recounting the crimes of the South African regime. He said: We have no books in our schools and no transportation. Our refugees have no shelter, no clothing. However, our enemies — the United States, West Germany, and Britain — give oil to the South African regime while this regime bombards Angola and Botswana. However, the support of the Islamic Republic of Iran has doubled our hopes for final victory.

According to the same report the leaders of Liberation Movement of Tanzania met with our president at his residence in Dar es Salaam yesterday. Addressing the meeting Mr Seyyed 'Ali Khamene'i said: Your movement against the racist regime in South Africa has convinced the Iranian people of your victory; we know this through news received in Iran via satellite communications. We hope for the day when the colonialist South African regime — this stigma on humanity — will be finally annihilated. We have supported your righteous struggle in all international forums and will continue to do so.

One of the leaders of that party responded by expressing his thanks for the unstinting help of the Islamic Republic, particularly the halt of Iranian oil exports to the South African regime. He said: Although we are not adequately armed, our people, both Muslims and Christians, are engaged in a struggle that will ultimately topple the regime in Pretoria. He added that his people are aware that the Islamic Republic of Iran is in the front line of struggle against Zionism and rascism. He said: We admire your policies and your people.

Our president responded by noting that one of the majors factors of Imam Khomeyni's victory over the late shah was his dependence on the people, because any group backed by the people must succeed. He said: We consider your success one of the objectives of our revolution.

Similarly, during their meeting with President Mr Seyyed 'Ali Khamene'i, two OAU representatives announced that the struggle of the people in South Africa is very similar to the struggle of the people of Palestine and the support of the Islamic Republic of Iran to all liberation movements has given their own movement a new impetus, new life.

The Central News Unit report adds that during his meeting with Mr Khamene'i one of the OAU representatives stated that the OAU had only nine members when it was first founded in 1963. Today it has 23 members, most of them countries who have gained their freedom through popular struggles. He said: Before the ouster of the shah of Iran, friendship between Iran and the racist Israel and South African Governments was very strong. However, since the success of the Islamic revolution, Iran has begun to support our struggles and this matter is very important to us.

In response, Mr Khamene'i said: We support the OAU and its importance because it represents all the oppressed people on the African Continent and because colonialism and injustice continue to rule in Africa. The president noted that only with popular support can such movements succeed. He said: There are two kinds of unity. One is to defend against superpower attacks and oppression, which is very good indeed. The other is to collude in the service of the unjust powers. One should be wary that the first kind of unity does not degenerate into the second kind of evil unity.

Feted at Banquet

GF190724 Tehran Domestic Service in Persian 0430 GMT 19 Jan 86

[Text] President Mr Samora Machel of Mozambique hosted a banquet last night in honor of Mr Seyyed 'Ali Khamene'i, the president of the Islamic Republic of Iran, who is on a visit to that country. The president of Mozambique presented an address of welcome to Mr Khamene'i, in which he asked the people and government of Iran to strengthen the bonds of friendship and cooperation between the two countries.

According to an IRNA report from Maputo, he stressed that the Iranian people's stance is based on condemnation and elimination of all kinds of discrimination and support for freedom and equality. The president of Mozambique then referred to the crimes and aggression by the usurpist South African regime in this part of the world and announced the support of the government and people of Mozambique for the struggles of the African National Congress and other forces striving for freedom, equality, and justice against the South African regime. The Mozambique president castigated Israeli aggression against Arab countries and spoke of the support for PLO's struggle to attain the legitimate and indisputable rights of its people.

Mr Seyyed 'Ali Khamene'i, president of the Islamic Republic of Iran, then expressed his thanks to the government and people of Mozambique for their hospitality and said: We believe that a struggle against the apartheid-fostering South African regime is not possible without a struggle against the supporters of the regime and U.S. imperialism, because the aggression perpetrated by U.S. allies and puppets cannot take place without the backing of the U.S. Government.

Expressing his happiness at the opening of the Islamic Republic of Iran's Embassy in Maputo and political meetings between the two countries at the foreign ministry level, Mr Khamene'i said: The Islamic Republic of Iran, which is basically inspired by Islamic ideology and the guidance of Imam Khomeyni, declares its total political and spiritual support for the struggle of the Frontline States against the racist puppet South African regime and expresses its support for the heroic and indefatigable struggle of the Namibian people to expurgate this country from the contaminating existence of the hirelings of the South African ruling regime -- one of the objectives of our revolution.

In conclusion the president of our country said: The Iraqi regime — with the support of the superpowers — was assigned to attack the Islamic soil with 12 infantry and artillery divisions to weaken and topple the Islamic leadership. Now that it sees its existence in jeopardy, it has raised the litany of peace. Today, international public opinion is fully aware that Iraq has imposed this war on our nation and that it violates international treaties. Along with other oppressed people of the world, we believe that dispensing justice in the face of an act of aggression is made possible only through the restitution of rights to the oppressed, the chastisement of the aggressor, and the uprooting of the mischief-makers.

First Round of Talks Begin

LD200056 Tehran IRNA in English 1742 GMT 19 Jan 86

[Text] Maputo, Jan, 19, IRNA — Visiting President 'Ali Khamene'i of Iran began his first round of talks with President Samora Machel of Mozambique here Sunday. Iranian and Mozambican foreign ministers as well as President Khamene'i's advisers were present at the meeting.

Speaking at the meeting President Machel said that the Mozambican people had nothing but high praise for the will of the Iranian people and their struggle against the shah which led to the overthrow of his autocratic regime. Machel said the Iranian nation's struggle has inspired him because the Iranians had triumphed over their past regime without arms or reliance on foreign help.

He noted also that the black South African people could also take lessons from Iran's example in their fight to topple the apartheid regime ruling over them. "Iran and Mozambique are two non-aligned countries committed to their anti-imperialistic struggles," President Machel said.

He further said that U.S. is presently protecting the Zionist regime in the Middle East as well as the South African apartheid government in South Africa, noting that the Islamic Republic's solidarity with African Frontline States is viewed as solidarity with African people.

In response, President Khamene'i said that the geographical distance between Iran and Mozambique cannot adversely affect common causes between the two nations. President Khamene'i said "the principles of the Islamic Revolution have taught us to fight aggressive regimes such as Israel and the South African apartheid government for the same reasons we fought the shah." The struggle against the Pretoria regime is a strategic goal of Iranian people, he said, noting that the aim of his visit to Frontline African states is to announce the Islamic Republic's firm policy vis-a-vis the apartheid Pretoria government. The Iranian president also talked about the forthcoming session of Non-aligned Movement due to be held in Zimbabwe.

President Khamene'i told his Mozambican counterpart that Iran fully supports the struggle of the Frontline States and is ready to expand its relations with them in varous fields.

Meanwhile, Iranian Foreign Minister 'Ali Akbar Velayati and his Mozambican counterpart discussed issues relevant to expansion of relations between the two countries in the fields of economy, education, oil, agriculture and medical and health services.

The presidents of Iran and Mozambique participated in another two-hour meeting attended also by the foreign ministers of Iran and Mozambique.

Machel, Khamene'i Banquet Speeches

MB200757 Maputo in English to Southern Africa 1100 GMT 19 Jan 86

[Excerpt] President Samora Machel of Mozambique has said that South Africa will not be successful in its bid to oust the popular government of Mozambique through the extension of the South African Army, the MNR. President Machel was speaking last night in Maputo at a banquet in honor of the visiting Iranian president, 'Ali Khamene'i.

He said that the South African Government considered Mozambique as a target to be shot down. President Machel said Mozambique faces constant aggression by Pretoria through the MNR armed bandits who are supported, trained, equipped, supplied, and financed by the warmongers of Pretoria. He said that the main aim of South Africa was the destruction of the democratic state of Mozambique using the armed gangs of the MNR. President Machel said that the main purpose of the MNR terrorists was to defend the interests of their Pretoria bosses. He, however, pledged that the people of Mozambique will never allow the return of tyranny and foreign occupation.

The Mozambican leader sharply criticized the economic blockade of Lesotho by South Africa, saying that it is a clear evidence of the inhuman character of the apartheid regime and its disregard for the rules of international law.

President Machel reiterated Mozambique's support for the ANC of South Africa and other democratic forces inside South Africa striving for freedom, equality, democracy, and justice.

On the question of war between Iran and Iraq, President Machel said he favors a negotiated settlement and an end to the war. He said he hoped 1986 will bring good sense and harmony to end the Gulf war. Expressing concern in line with the international community, President Machel said Mozambique has refused to support any side in the war.

President Khamene'i of Iran, on his part, expressed pleasure at the increase in bilateral relations between his country and Mozambique. He noted that the agreement to supply Mozambique with oil on preferential terms by Iran was reached when the Mozambican foreign minister, Joaquim Chissano, visited Iran last August.

President Khamene'i praised Mozambique's struggle against apartheid and said that the Iranian people add their voice to that of Mozambique in condemning all forms of racial discrimination. He noted that immediately after the Islamic revolution in Iran, his country cut all ties with South Africa that had been established by the deposed shah of Iran. He condemned financial assistance and support to Pretoria by the Western countries. President Khamene'i said that Pretoria was launching pad for the West for their aggression. He claimed that it was possible to fight against the Pretoria regime without fighting U.S. imperialism. He compared South Africa to Israel saying that their very existence should be questioned. He said the solution was to use the same weapons as these countries. President Khamene'i said that he believed the struggle against such regimes should not be limited to reaching a compromise.

On the Iran-Iraq war, he defended his country saying that Iraq was the aggressor and that the only way to deal with the aggressor was the application of justice which included the punishment of the aggressor.

Reportage on Visit of President to Angola

Arrives in Luanda; Talks Begin

GF200630 Tehran Domestic Service in Persian 0330 GMT 20 Jan 86

[Text] According to our special correspondent, Mr Seyyed 'Ali Khamene'i, on the 7th day of his official visit to Asian and African countries, arrived in the Angolan capital, Luanda, yesterday morning following his departure from Mozambique. He was given an official welcome by Angola's president, members of Angola's People's Party, cabinet ministers and foreign ambassadors resident in Angola.

Mr Khamene'i yesterday afternoon laid a wreath at the Angolan monument honoring the unknown soldier and paid his respects to all the martyrs who sought freedom for their country.

The presidents of the two countries started their talks in the presence of the foreign ministers and several other Iranian and Angolan officials. During these talks the Angolan president stated: Your trip to our country affirms our friendship, solidarity and cooperation. He added: You have come to a country that is constantly under attack from the apartheid regime of South Africa. This aggression also continues in other parts of the world and the superpowers are responsible for the worsening conditions.

Then our president thanked the Angolan president for the kindness granted to him by the government and the people of Angola. He said: Your situation has many things in common with our people's struggle. We understand very well the import of the aggressions against Namibia and Angola. The aim of our trip to the Frontline States struggling against the apartheid regime is to convey a message of sympathy from the Iranian people to the innocent people in this area.

We stand beside all those who seriously fight against the apartheid regime of South Africa. Our president added: We believe that the injustice inflicted upon the people of southern Africa is not against just one nation; it is against all humanity. The struggle against the Pretoria regime should not be limited to the Frontline States.

In another part of his speech President Khamene'i said: The experience of the people's resistance in the last few years has shown that if the people are fooled by empty promises, their defeat is a certainty. Mr Khamene'i added: The Palestine issue has no other solution except through struggle. Any resolution or any plans for negotiations presented as an alternative will most certainly be defeated.

Our president added: We did the same thing when it came to aggressions against our own borders. At the time of the Iraqi attack against our country, all the superpowers supported and guided our enemy so that he could stage an attack along our 1,000 km border. Now, following our people's resistance, Iraq has agreed to a peace. The regime that wanted to capture all the provinces of our country has today fallen to begging.

The president condemned the world aggressors' threat against African countries, Palestine, and Libya, and said: Aggression is aggression. It must be fought against everywhere. Our president concluded by inviting the Angolan president to visit Iran.

Soon after, the presidents of the two countries met in a private session. Later, Mr Khamene'i attended a banquet given in his honor.

Khamene'i, SWAPO Leader Confer

GF210659 Tehran Domestic Service in Persian 0330 GMT 21 Jan 86

[Text] According to IRNA, Mr Sam Njomo, the leader of SWAPO, which is fighting to gain independence for Namibia, met and held talks with our president on the night before last while the president of the Islamic Republic of Iran was visiting Luanda, the Angolan capital. The SWAPO leader, heading a delegation from SWAPO's committee [as heard], visited the president at his residence.

During the meeting, which was also attended by Mr Velayati, our foreign minister, Mr Njomo first congratulated Imam Khomeyni, the president, and the people of Iran on behalf of the SWAPO committee and the people of Namibia for the victory of the Islamic revolution. He said: The Islamic revolution in Iran changed the political situation in the Middle East, and we are convinced that the imperialists' stronghold in the Middle East will soon be removed by revolutionary forces.

He thanked the Islamic Republic of Iran for its support for SWAPO and said Iran is a leader in the United Nations, the Nonaligned Movement and other world organizations. Mr Sam Njomo added: Immediately after the success of the Islamic revolution, you cut off oil supplies to South Africa, so we are grateful to the imam and your people. I would like you to send the warmest greetings to Imam Khomeyni on behalf of the SWAPO committee and the revolutionary forces of Namibia. He stressed: The people of Namibia, under the leadership of SWAPO, will continue the struggle until the removal of apartheid. He added: The South African regime enjoys the support of the United States and other powers, and last November, U.S. and British imperialism vetoed a resolution in favor of economic sanctions against the apartheid regime. But these same imperialist countries that pretend they are freedom-loving imposed economic sanctions against revolutionary Iran, although Iran had not captured another country. On the other hand, the South African regime has occupied Namibia and parts of Angola.

He said: The policy of our people is armed struggle because only armed struggle can achieve something. SWAPO will eventually be victorious because the people of Namibia feel they are not alone, and millions of people on the other side of the world are supporting them. He said: We look upon the Islamic revolution in Iran with admiration.

Then Mr Khamene'i expressed his pleasure at this meeting and said: We follow your situation carefully and with interest, and we see the issue of the apartheid regime of Pretoria as a humane issue involving the entire world. We believe that apartheid is degrading. We think Namibia's situation is cruel. We think the apartheid regime is a leftover from colonial times. Unfortunately, those regimes in the world who talk about human rights support this regime by remaining silent or by supporting it.

The president of Islamic Iran added: The existence of the South African regime and the silence and indifference of international bodies and their lack of decision-making in this regard is a violation of human rights. We place no value on the resolutions passed on Namibia and South Africa; they are nothing but tricks. We feel that the only way to solve such issues is to remove the apartheid regime and return South Africa and Namibia to their people. We strongly condemn any solution that involves compromise.

Mr Khamene'i said: We think your power is superior to any compromising body. He concluded by saying: In all international bodies, in resolutions, and in all other position-taking, we approve of your people's struggle. The purpose of this trip is to announce to the people of South Africa and to you who are fighting inside Namibia that we are with you, by your side. We remind you that the Islamic Republic of Iran, during the recent meeting of nonaligned foreign ministers held in New Delhi, was a forerunner in the recognition of SWAPO.

Consignment of Iran-Made Mortars Sent to Warfront

LD181120 Tehran Domestic Service in Persian 1030 GMT 18 Jan 86

[Text] This morning the first consignment of mortars manufactured by the Self-Sufficiency Jihad Industries of the Islamic Revolution Guards Corps was prepared for delivery to the fronts in the presence of Mr Rafiqdust, minister of Islamic Revolution Guards Corps; Colonel Jalali, minister of defense; and Colonel Sohrabi, commander of the Gendarmerie of the Islamic Republic of Iran. The Islamic Revolution Guards Corps [IRGC] minister spoke to our correspondent on the activities of the Self-Sufficiency Jihad and the future plans of this ministry.

[Begin recording] [Unidentified correspondent] Mr Rafiqdust, could you please tell us what plans have been envisaged toward attaining self-sufficiency in the IRGC Ministry and give us the details of the project that you have inspected?

[Rafiqdust] In the name of God, the merciful, the compassionate. Our aim in the corps is to be totally self-sufficient. At present, we are in the initial stages. Complicated ordnance industries such as those manufacturing missiles, aircraft, anti-aircraft [guns] and whatever this administration needs for its defense will be planned in all the organizations and departments of the government. Fortunately, this plan is now being implemented. We have massive ordnance industries and the newly established defense industries have begun operating.

Recently, and it is most fortunate, the government's motivation to play a more tangible role in the field of war [industries] has increased. For example, our industrial factories will assist us and we have begun operations in order to achieve self-sufficiency in ordnance industries.

The project which was inspected by the brothers today -- the esteemed defense minister and the commander of the gendarmerie, and the respected deputy of the ground forces and the corps, who have come here to see it for themselves -- was opened 2 years ago by the president. This factory will produce all the mortars and other weapons that are planned for production. At present, the production of 120-mm mortars and 60-mm commando mortars are ready for delivery to the fronts and will be placed at the disposal of the corps, the ground forces, and the gendarmerie.

God willing, we can now claim that as far as mortars are concerned, we do not need to purchase them abroad and can manufacture the requirements of the forces — that is the ground forces, the gendarmerie, and the corps — according to any scale specified and we will deliver them accordingly. Everything will be manufactured here from 1986 to the year 2002. God willing, details of future production will be presented to the nation later. [end recording]
